Creative Developer

I'm a developer who believes technology should feel like an experience — not just software. Currently pursuing B.Tech in Computer Science, I specialize in building cross-platform apps, interactive web platforms, and immersive digital experiences. From leading hackathon teams to founding my own digital agency, I focus on turning ambitious ideas into real, scalable products. I don't just write code — I build solutions that connect people, solve problems, and spark curiosity.

Creative technologist focused on crafting apps, web platforms, and digital experiences that merge innovation with real-world impact.
